EMPIRE-WIDE BOYCOTT IS URGED

PRIZE AIR RAID OVER CANTON

ase Plane Shot Down

Sept. 30: It transpires that three Japanese planes participated in this afternoon's surprise air raid over Canton. It is reported that the planes bombed Tungshan and also the vicinity of a paper mill south-east of Canton. The Chinese air force shot down one plane and this appears to be accounted for by anti-aircraft guns which dotted the sky all round the city. That it was almost impossible for the plane to escape was the general opinion expressed. The damage caused by the bombing is believed to be not serious.

A few foreigners arrived in Canton this evening. They reported that the Japanese planes were shot down. They also reported that the Japanese planes were shot down. They also reported that the Japanese planes were shot down.

A second attack on Whampoa Harbour occurred at 3 p.m. when three Japanese planes, coming from the direction of Kongmoon, released a number of bombs which all missed their mark. It is believed that the raiders intended their bombs for the Chinese warships anchored in the Harbour. The anti-aircraft guns on the vessels went into action but none of the shots took effect.

Sept. 30: Two Japanese planes, coming from the

INDIAN CONGRESS LEADER MAKES STATEMENT

SYDNEY, SEPT. 30: THE LABOUR COUNCIL, GOVERNING BODY OF TRADES UNIONS IN NEW SOUTH WALES, HAS ORDERED A BOYCOTT OF JAPANESE GOODS CALLING ON ALL UNIONISTS TO PREVENT IMPORTS AND EXPORTS FROM JAPAN. THE COUNCIL HAS ALSO URGED THE BRITISH TRADES UNION CONGRESS TO CALL AN EMPIRE-WIDE BOYCOTT.—REUTER.

ALLAHABAD, SEPT. 30: A KEY STATEMENT ON THE JAPANESE BOYCOTT MOVEMENT WAS MADE BY THE CONGRESS LEADER PANDIT NEHRU WHO STATED THAT THE SUGGESTION WAS NATURAL AND JUSTIFIABLE AND MUST BE GIVEN FULL CONSIDERATION. THOUGH THE ORGANISATION OF A BOYCOTT WAS NOT EASY SINCE JAPANESE GOODS WERE ALREADY CONTROLLED BY THE QUOTA SYSTEM, BUT HE ADDED, "IT IS CLEAR WE MUST CREATE A PSYCHOLOGICAL ATMOSPHERE FOR SUCH A BOYCOTT. ALL WHO FEEL HURT AT THE SUFFERING AND HORROR IN CHINA MUST AVOID PURCHASING JAPANESE GOODS ALTHOUGH THIS MUST NOT BE DONE IN FAVOUR OF FOREIGN GOODS. LET US DO THIS MUCH TO HELP CHINA IN HER HOUR OF DISTRESS."—REUTER.

$241,000,000 SALVATIC BONDS SUBSCRIBED

Shanghai, September 30: The National Salvatic Bonds solicitation office here announced today that over $241,000,000 of the $500,000,000 bonds has been subscribed. The buyers are from Chinese at home and abroad.

The new bonds were floated shortly after hostilities broke out on the Shanghai front. The funds to be raised will be used for the Government's administrative expenses during the present crisis.—Central News.

He added that the Chinese are still holding out for at least another year and a half.—Central News.

SINKING OF CHINESE FISHING JUNKS

LOCAL ENQUIRY

London, Sept. 29: Following the report made by the German liner Scharnhorst to the Hong Kong authorities regarding the sinking of Chinese fishing junks, the British Colonial authorities in Hong Kong are carrying out an enquiry into the exact circumstances of the reported sinkings.—Reuter.

It will be recalled that the Japanese Navy authorities denied that a Japanese submarine torpedoed Chinese junks in South China waters. The Japanese Navy authorities declared that the Scharnhorst which picked up ten survivors was in Manila and so could not have been in Hong Kong. Lloyd's agent informed Reuter's correspondent in London that the Scharnhorst did in fact call at Hong Kong.

AIR BOMBINGS WILL BE CONTINUED

—If Necessary.

Geneva, Sept. 30: The Japanese spokesman here to-day made a statement similar to that made by the Foreign Office spokesman in Tokyo in regard to the League Assembly's condemnation of Japanese bombing. The spokesman added:—"Air bombings will be continued if necessary."—Reuter.

DEMAND BOYCOTT

Anti-Japonism In Britain

London, Sept. 30.

The "Times" Parliamentary correspondent says that it is understood the Ministers are much impressed by the rising feeling in this country against the methods adopted by Japan in prosecuting her adventure in China. They recognise that there is a growing support for the demand of an economic boycott against Japan, put forward by Sir Francis Acland and Professor Keynes in letters to the "Times." This demand was reinforced by the National Council of Labour at its meeting yesterday, and it is felt the Council's declaration will likely reinforce the demand for an earlier meeting of the Parliament.—Reuter.

MAKING HONG KONG SELF-SUFFICIENT

VAST POSSIBILITIES OF NEW TERRITORIES

GREAT AMERICAN PIONEER'S VIEWS

BY E.R.E.

The present blockade of the South China coast by the Japanese fleet should by now have given the authorities of the Colony, civil, military and naval, as well as the Imperial Government, food for a great deal of very serious thought.

Supposing for a moment that Great Britain were at war with a great Pacific Power. The magnitude of the defences being erected in this Colony may be taken to mean that Hong Kong, as the first point of possible attack, is getting ready to defend herself to the utmost. In the event of war there would certainly be a great strengthening of military as well as naval units here.

In these circumstances, I picture Hong Kong in a pretty sorry plight, because, wonderfully endowed by nature as this Colony is, and despite the years of warning of the perilous position in which she would find herself in the event of hostilities, our leaders have not had the vision, one might even bluntly say, the common sense, to make provision for man's most essential need, namely, food.

Germany lost the Great War because the British Navy starved her out. Food is the most essential thing in time of war, much more so than guns and ammunition. Soldiers cannot fight without food. It is a matter of general knowledge that in the scheme of British defences in the Pacific, Hong Kong as the headquarters of the China Fleet, will be expected, in the event of war, say, with Japan, to put up as strenuous a resistance as possible, because the longer she is able to hold up the enemy in these waters, the more time she would give Singapore to prepare for the fray. There is, of course, no necessity to stress that in any circumstances Singapore must not fall.

HONG KONG'S VITAL POSITION
Thus, Hong Kong holds a vital position in the scheme of defence of Britain's Pacific empire, and it behoves the authorities, even at this belated hour, to make every preparation, the most essential of which, as I say, is the cultivation of foodstuffs. With a blockade of our shores and communication with the hinterland of China cut off, it would not be long before stocks of imported foodstuffs would be exhausted, but if the natural resources of this Colony had been fully, or even partially, developed, there would be no cause for the slightest anxiety on this score, for there is sufficient land here, if developed on modern, scientific, agricultural methods, to make this Colony perfectly independent of outside supplies.

I discussed this matter yesterday with that great American agricultural authority, Major Howard Reed, who is now in Hong Kong and he was emphatic that in the New Territories Hong Kong has a vast tract of land ideally suited for the growing of every type of agricultural produce to meet the needs of the million inhabitants of this Colony without having to depend in the slightest on outside supplies.

Passengers To Kowloon From Canton

There has been a striking falling off in the number of passengers arriving by train from Canton within the past two days. Major R. D. Walker, General Manager of the Kowloon-Canton Railway, told the "Daily Press" yesterday that only about 1,200 passengers were now arriving per day. This, he said, was about 50 per cent of the normal traffic. Major Walker emphasised that conditions on the railway are quite normal.

IL DUCE THANKS HITLER

Rome, Sept. 30: On arrival in Rome after his visit to Germany, Signor Mussolini telegraphed Herr Adolf Hitler expressing thanks for the enthusiastic reception given him in Germany. The telegram ends with the words, "I am waiting to welcome you to Italy."—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

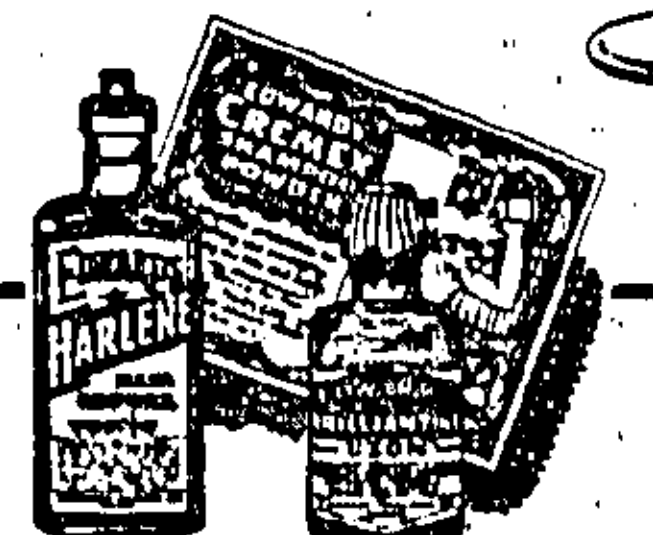

After threatening for some time to destroy Ichang Road Bridge, which crosses Soochow Creek at the end of Gordon Road, Chinese soldiers finally blew up the northern section of the structure with a charge of dynamite, after giving warning to the Settlement authorities. It required two attempts to actually set off the charge which rocked the vicinity. The nearness of the Chapel Cemetery is believed to have a direct bearing on the action.

Tanks assembled in the camp before going into action. Over 200 took part in the exercises held recently on Salisbury Plain.

BIG SEIZURE OF WILD WOOD

The men and a woman appeared before Mr. W. Schofield yesterday at the Central Magistracy charged with the possession of 1,200 cattie of wild pine tree wood. Fung Fan pleaded not guilty to the charge while Tan Peng-yau (woman) and Tan Yee admitted it.

Mr. J. R. Carr, Supervisor of the Forestry Department, said that on Sept. 20 about 8 p.m. he and party of forest guards raided Shing Fung Lane, on Information. Outside of house No. 6 the wild tree wood was found. It was suspected that the wood came from Aberdeen.

The case was remanded to Saturday.

BOUND OVER

Appearing before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, Wong Yee, aged 30, was charged with the theft of 16 empty H.K. Brewery bottles from Hung Cheung. The defendant was bound over to be of good behaviour for a year.

CHOLERA REGULATIONS VIOLATED

Appearing before Mr. W. Schofield yesterday at the Central Magistracy, Kwok Sai, woman, was summoned for offering and exposing for sale a fresh fruit. The defendant denied the charge by saying that the fruit was used for her children's consumption.

Sanitary Inspector Bradley stated that the defendant was in front of a house in Queen's Road West and her basket contained some pomeles, and some were peeled, which was against the regulations of the Urban Council that had been introduced owing to the outbreak of cholera.

The Magistrate imposed a fine of 50 cents.

In a similar summons against Lo Ping, hawker, a fine of $5 was imposed.

HARRY RICHARD MAJOR OBTAINS ACQUITTAL

Chief Justice Criticises Government

IN NOT TAKING ACTION AGAINST CHINESE REVENUE OFFICERS

"Has no action been taken against the officers who avowedly are completely unworthy of their responsibility and trust?" was the question put to Mr. T. Megarry, Superintendent of the Imports and Exports Department by the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, during the trial of Harry Richard Major, aged 24, Revenue Officer, who was charged with accepting a bribe of $200 from Li Yee on board the s.s. Wo Ping Yee on June 23, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday.

Defendant was acquitted of the charge when the jury, after a retirement of about half an hour, returned a verdict not guilty by 6-1.

The prosecution was conducted by Mr. M. J. Abbott, Assistant Crown Solicitor, whilst the accused was represented by the Hon. Mr. Leo D'Almada, Jr., instructed by Mr. D. B. Evans, of Messrs. Johnston, Stokes and Master.

The jury empanelled for the case were Messrs. A. H. Delcourt (Foreman), A. K. Kirovsky, M. M. Lum, H. A. da Roza, V. Olafinsky, Li Takwah and R. L. D. Noronha.

INVIDIOUS TASK

Mr. T. Megarry, Superintendent of the Imports and Exports Department, was asked by His Lordship why the Chinese officers who allegedly received bribes were still employed.

His Lordship: Has no action been taken against the officers who avowedly are completely unworthy of their responsibility and trust? They are still employed with the collection of public revenue and with the responsible and invidious task of searching a person's luggage, even though they say they have accepted a bribe?—They are still acting so.

I take it that your Department does not regard acceptance of a bribe as a trivial matter?—No.

What is the worst of these men dealt with?—I have not heard of the matter to date. Not one of them ended.

When that is remembered, I cannot remember I think it was before investigations.

He stated he had no comment on what Mr. Megarry said, save that it made no difference whatever on the motive behind the action of the Chinese officers in giving evidence. He was not going to criticise the Government for its conduct in connection with this affair; it might be possible they acted quite properly. But on the face of it this did not seem probable. The fact remained that the Chinese officers who were admittedly participants in the offence had retained their employment and there seemed no hint that any action was going to be taken against any of them.

PRONOUNCEMENT ON THE INDICTMENT

In the course of his summing up, His Lordship said: "This has been a rather lengthy and, I am afraid, a terribly sordid story, in which we have seen very little of the better side of human nature. That unfortunately is the sort of thing with which one becomes accustomed in a Court of Justice, but I want to emphasise to you, as strongly as I can that you are not sitting here as a Court of Morals. Your duty, as well as mine, is a much simpler one, than that because we are limited strictly to a pronouncement on the indictment preferred against defendant, after considering the evidence."

GROSS BREACH OF DUTY

Continuing, His Lordship said that defendant had voluntarily come to the witness-box and stippled himself of practically every shred of decency by admitting the gross breach of duty on his part in releasing the wolfram ore and the acceptance of the $100 handed to him by a subordinate officer, knowing full well the source whence it came. But all that did not amount to an admission of the indictment.

It might well be there was another tribunal competent enough to deal with him on his own admission, but what they were concerned with was another matter—acceptance of a bribe of $200 on board the s.s. Wo Ping Yee.

The parade of witnesses, on behalf of the prosecution, had been ten in number. Two of them, Mr. Buller and Inspector Carey, were witnesses of truth, honour and respectability, but their evidence was entirely formal.

As regards the others, there was one, the No. 1 cooile on board the ship, whose evidence was not unimpeached. This man had admitted he was neglectful of the interests of his employers and unfaithful in not reporting the presence of the wolfram ore on board.

"HONOUR AMONG THIEVES"

Discarding these witnesses, there remained a rabble of seven others. Five of them were allowed to come to the Court wearing the uniform of a Government department. They had heard of the dismissal of the purser by the shipping company for his participation in the transaction, and yet the Government had not seen fit to regard the admitted and avowed participation of its Chinese revenue staff as sufficient to merit even their suspension pending a decision in their case. They were still engaged in the not unimportant duty of collecting the revenue of the Colony.

These officers, the purser and Li Yee, who tendered the alleged bribe, were accomplices. All of them had quite unabashedly told of the responsible parts they played in the conspiracy, but the only thing that could be said of Li and the purser was that they did not make any money out of it.

The officers were such respectable members of the community that they could not remember their own proverb, "honour among thieves," because two of them took more than their fair share. It was on the evidence of these men who had admitted they were utterly unworthy of credence or belief that the Crown based its case.

After reviewing the evidence both for the prosecution and for the defence, His Lordship warned the jury it was extremely dangerous to convict on the stories of accomplices.

The jury retired for half an hour, and returned a 6-1 verdict of not guilty.

RE-ARRAIGNED

Following his acquittal, H.R. Major was re-arraigned before the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday afternoon, when he faced a charge of accepting a bribe of $40 from Ho Wing on board the s.s. Fatsan on June 10, 1937.

Mr. M. J. Abbott is conducting the prosecution whilst the Hon. Mr. Leo D'Almada, Jr., instructed by Mr. D. B. Evans, of Messrs. Johnston, Stokes and Master, is appearing for the defendant.

The following jurors are empanelled for the case:—Messrs. A. Webster (foreman), K. T. Kan, A. J. Castro, E. A. Figueiredo, H. F. Gonsalves, G. W. Carr, Y. Abbas. After evidence was given, the hearing was adjourned till 10 a.m. to-day.

PRISONER DIES OF CHOLERA

An inquest into the death of Kwan Choi, a prisoner, was held yesterday at the Central Magistracy, with Mr. W. Schofield sitting as Coroner assisted by a jury comprising Messrs. W. C. Felshaw (Foreman), A. E. Silkstone and L. D. Walsh.

Chief Warder H. Barrett of the Hong Kong Prison, Stanley, stated that the deceased was admitted to prison on August 18. He was later transferred to the Infectious Diseases Hospital, and died on September 27.

Dr. G. Ingram Shaw, Medical Officer of the Hong Kong Prison and the Infectious Diseases Hospital, testified that the cause of death was cholera.

The jury returned a verdict of death from natural causes.

Look at Your Skin

Skin Specialists declare that 90 out of every 100 women suffer from skin outbreaks, spots, pimples, blotches, and 'muddy' complexions UNNECESSARILY!

Ugly complexion faults are woman's most common enemy. Few escape. Some resort to heavy powdering in an effort to hide them. Whilst others, due to consistent wrong treatment, cause the skin to become highly sensitive, coarse and blemished.

To make your skin clear and healthy, your complexion fresh and smooth, use Cuticura. Cleanse the skin with Cuticura Soap twice a day. Its luxuriant and mildly antiseptic lather is soothing and softening; washes away pore-deep dirt which causes blackheads, enlarged pores and ugly complexion defects. And to rid the skin of pimples, rashes or irritation, Cuticura Ointment direct to the part before wash the soap. Its antiseptic kills germs, soothes and quickly clears the skin. Try Cuticura to how soon your skin in your complexion becomes more attractive than before.

PARIS FASHIONS Dresses And Jewels

Black dinner dresses will be the most worn during the autumn season. Their simple lines permit real jewels and rich furs to be shown to advantage. A black marocain dress with an ankle-length skirt which is full in front may have long, tight sleeves laced down the outer sides with broad black ribbons. The fitted bodice of such a dress will have a Renaissance neck-line and a line of lacing down its front. Coarse black silk net and black woollen lace are suitable materials for restaurant dresses, which should be trimmed with gold flowers at the waist-lines.

Cocktail dresses are plain in design but rich in their fabrics. Many are of reversible black satin crêpe, which shows a fine ribbing on the dull side. Others are cut in silver and gold lamés. A number of houses follow the lines of their sports frocks when designing these lamé dresses. They have day-length skirts, high necks, and long, plain sleeves. Silver lamé with a fine black overcheck may be used for a classical tailor-made, with which is worn a bright blouse of velvet or satin. Marcel Rochas puts a red blouse and a black velvet waistcoat with an "ensemble" of this kind. The dinner dresses at Lelong's are of ankle length with heavy frills of net, cut like paper garlands, on the straight hemlines. A black lace dress has two ruffles round the ankles with a band of red velvet ribbon between them.

Gold ornaments will be worn with these dresses. In the jewellers' pavilion at the Paris Exhibition, gold bracelets and dressclips with brilliants, and pink and yellow gold are worked together to make settings for emeralds and rubies. Heavy gold chain bracelets with square links are set with brilliants or topazes and garnets. The newest settings are invisible and very light. Cartier shows a diadem of brilliants and emeralds which represents two rum lilies on a narrow circlet of tones and which weighs only 40z. Flexible settings which give height to design are in favour. Brooches and dress-clips take their designs from flower and leaves, and a ruby brooch depicts a big chrysanthemum in which each petal is carved. Rings are large and irregular in design. A single ring is sufficient upon the hand where previously a number of smaller rings were worn. After rubies, sapphires are the most fashionable stones, and a big globe-ring set with table-cut sapphires is lightly studded with brilliants.

The latest ways of dressing the hair show that longer hair is coming into fashion. Gracé curls the hair while it is growing into a chignon shape at the back of the head. Curls still soften the contour of face, but the hair is brushed smoothly down over the crown of the head. Broad, carefully arranged waves are correct for classical profiles, but natural coiffures with soft curls are charming for debutantes. Complexions are to be natural and make-up must be subtly applied. Those who return from the sea are not keeping their bronzed complexions in the town, but use lighter powders in place of the "sun beige" colour which they took away with them.

In readiness for the autumn waterproofs have been designed which are as elegant as coats. They may be made of water-proofed skin, crêpe de Chine, and velvet, and they follow the lines of the new coats with loose backs, high collars, and many pockets. A brown corduroy coat may be lined with kasha in brown and beige stripes, which makes it warm and practical. Cloaks are in fashion, and Elizabeth Arden has a short umbrella and a long cloak of green silk oil-skin which can be rolled up and carried in a square satchel. Coloured oil-skin umbrellas with short handles and straps to hang them from the arm are still in fashion. Separate fur collars and plastrons are nice for early autumn. Balenciaga makes a collar of silver fox which frames the face. It has metal rings in the two ends, through which are

NEWEST EVENING WRAPS

Evening coats are waisted, with long flowing skirts to the ground. Some are lavishly lined with plain or figured or printed lamé. Schiaparelli shows a "Sultry Pink" (Schiap's new version of last season's "shocking pink") wool evening coat lined with gold lamé and printed with green and purple plaid; it is worn over a clinging aubergine velvet dress. Lanvin favours full-length evening cloaks edged in wide contrasting colour effects. A few box-shape, fingertip evening coats are shown. Mainbocher has them in white satin brocade patterned in rich Chinese designs.

Styles are rich, styles are glamorous—but styles are rather difficult to wear!

For gala evenings New York women like luxurious, elaborate "carry-alls," which hold their cigarettes, powder, rouge lipstick, comb and money compactly and brilliantly. The most elegant versions are resplendent with rhinestones or coloured stones. Monograms are popular for both day-time and evening vanities.

Many of the new coiffures feature hair brushed softly from a centre part into high, side curls.

For a long time women have been using such brilliant lipstick that the most glib man could not mistake its artificiality. But now unnaturally rosy cheeks and exotic, hand-drawn eyebrows are "passé." Every girl is striving for a subdued, artistic effect when applying cosmetics, using only enough rouge to simulate a natural flush, enough lipstick to make the mouth beguiling, and eyebrows brushed to follow the natural bony structure above the eyes.

All the smart young things are brushing out their locks, so that they fall in loose, natural waves, and are foregoing hair tints that are too patently artificial.

See the KIWI trade mark on every tin of shoe polish you buy. It is a guarantee of finest quality polish.

BROADCASTING
IN THE EMPIRE*Committee's Interim Report

London, Sept. 29.
The Interim report of the committee broadcasting in the Colonies emphasises the importance of Colonial Governments in taking all practical steps to encourage the increase reception of the empire services of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

The report discusses the advantages and possibilities of wireless broadcasting and systems of re-diffusion by wire in relation to the varying local needs in the different Colonial areas, and within each, and having regard to financial difficulties, the committee expresses the opinion that while it would regret to see the extensive development of advertisement as a feature of Colonial broadcasting programmes, it was better to have a broadcasting system partially financed by sponsored programmes or advertisement than no broadcasting system at all.

Social and economic conditions in most Colonial territories dispose the committee to the view that broadcasting for entertainment should be self-supporting, but as an instrument of administration and education the report foresees possibility of interesting developments, and in this connexion attention is called to the advantages of promoting community listening.—
British Wireless.

UNEMPLOYMENT

London, Sept. 28.
Mr. Ernest Brown, Minister for Labour, continuing his investigation of the unemployment situation in England, to-day visited Harrow-gate. He is very concerned about the question of employment for men from 45 to 68 years of age, and of young men who have had no settled work since leaving school.—

GREEN LIGHT

"Green Light," best-selling novel for two years, and now translated to the screen as a Cosmo-politan production, has been booked by the Majestic Theatre, beginning to-day, as a First National release.

Errol Flynn, the young, Irish star who made such a sensational success with his first starring role, "Captain Blood," and followed it with another smash hit in "The Charge of the Light Brigade," has the role of Dr. Newell Paige, a young surgeon who sacrifices his career to save that of an older doctor.

Co-starred with him is the lovely Anita Louise as Phyllis Dexter, for whose mother's death Paige has assumed the blame. The two meet at the home of Francis Ogilvie (played by Margaret Lindsay), a nurse who devotes her life to Paige, and fall instantly in love. But when Phyllis finds out who he is she refuses to see him again.

Dean Harcourt (played by Sir Cedric Hardwicke) is a cleric with a broad and beautiful philosophy of life, and the confidante of these three young people.

The annual meeting of the St. Andrew's Women's Fellowship was held yesterday. A report on the work of the past year was given by Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Neyle.

EASY LIVING

A comedy which ranks among the smartest pictures of this or any other season brings Jean Arthur, Edward Arnold and Ray Milland to the screen of the Queen's Theatre to-day, in "Easy Living," a new story by Preston Sturges.

Its story is refreshingly new, its settings are lavish and it moves at a nice pace, for all of which high praise is due the cast, the author and the director, Mitchell Lelen.

The story concerns a stenographer, played by Miss Arthur, who suddenly and unexpectedly gets a sable coat valued at $50,000 and then has to live up to it. Like the man in Mark Twain's story who found he didn't have to have any money as long as he had a check for a million pounds, Miss Arthur finds the town wide open to her.

THEODORA GOES WILD

"Theodora Goes Wild," the Columbia production which brings Irene Dunne to the screen, as a scintillating comedienne, is currently the attraction at the King's Theatre.

Miss Dunne has been long known as a dramatic star, famed for such roles as Babra Gray in "Cimarron," the forgotten woman in "Back Street," the blind widow of "Magnificent Obsession" and Magnolia Ravenal in "Showboat."

The comedy sequences in the latter, however, encouraged Miss Dunne to try her art at light comedy. She proves to be ideal in the title role in "Theodora Goes Wild," a sophisticated comedy which deals with the exploits of a small town girl who sets out to get her man.

MAKE WAY FOR TO-MORROW

A highly entertaining story of the great American family in action has its run at the Queen's Theatre to-day, in "Make Way for Tomorrow." Vina Dalmir is credited with the screen play for this picture and it shows much of her keen insight into human nature.

"Make Way for Tomorrow" is the story of three generations of a typical American family who are forced to live under one roof. The squabbles, bickerings, comedy and problems which may be expected to arise from such an arrangement are present in full measure, making the picture one of the "homeliest" and most human story to reach the screen in a long time.

The youngest generation is represented by Barbara Read, the charming young personage who squares to fame overnight with Deanna Durbin in "Three Smart Girls."

STATE COUNCILLORS BUY $108,000 SALVATION BONDS

Nanking, Sept. 29: Under the leadership of Mr. Lin Sen, aged Chairman of the National Government, the councillors to-day pledged to purchase $108,000 National Salvation Bonds.

JAPANESE ATTACK ALL SECTORS

Shanghai, Sept. 29.
The Japanese launched attacks on all sectors this morning. While the artillery blazed, sending shell after shell into the Chinese lines, bombers loosed their destructive cargoes. The immediate vicinity of the North Station received the most attention and several shells are reported to have found their mark on Chinese anti-aircraft guns which gave its first display yesterday, but no success has up to the present been reported.

9,000 JAPANESE REINFORCEMENTS REACH SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Sept. 29.
Nine thousand Japanese reinforcements, including 2,000 cavalrymen, were landed in Shanghai this morning. The dozen transports, which arrived during the night, moored along the Wayside Wharf, O.S.K. Wharf and Whangpoo Wharf in the Yangtzepoo district where the men came ashore.

Huge quantities of foodstuffs, munitions and other military supplies, as well as army horses, were unloaded.

Observers here believe that the continuous arrival of Japanese reinforcements well indicates the heavy losses the Japanese forces have suffered during past weeks. It is also interpreted that Japan is pouring men into the Shanghai area with the hopes of launching the long-heralded final "big push" and to bring a speedy conclusion to the present fighting.

ORDER FOR PLANES SANCTIONED

London, Sept. 29.
The Air Ministry has given sanction to the Gloster Aircraft Company to accept a Chinese order for a batch of the latest Gladiator type of fighter planes, single-seaters and capable of a speed of 250 miles per hour. The will be shipped shortly to China.

CABINET REVIEWS POSITION

London, Sept. 29.
The position in the Far East in the light of the most recent reports, was reviewed in to-day's Cabinet. It is understood that the proposal for an economic boycott of Japanese goods, which is being advanced in some quarters, will not meet with approval in Government circles. It is learned, however, that if the need should arise, Britain will be prepared to act as mediator for the contending parties.

JAPANESE REPLY TO AMERICA

Washington, Sept. 29.
Japan has replied to the American Note protesting against the bombing of non-combatants but the State Department is withholding information concerning the nature of the reply pending consideration of the contents. The American Red Cross has contributed one hundred thousand dollars to assist in the care of the sick and injured of all nationalities in China, and the money will be given to the Chinese Red Cross and other charitable organizations functioning in the area of the hostilities.

The State Department announced that 1010 American citizens were still in China on September 29, including 2517 in Shanghai. So far 3112 have been evacuated.

REBELLION IN MANCHUKUO

Shanghai, Sept. 29.
The Japanese command in Shanghai has suddenly despatched 60,000 troops to the northern part of Manchukuo, according to the latest reports received here.
Chinese officers declare that this was done in order to cope with serious rebellions that have broken out among the Chinese population of Manchukuo.

ATTACK ON WUHU CAUSES INDIGNATION

Shanghai, Sept. 29.
The Japanese air raid on the town of Wuhu on the upper Yangtze has caused painful surprise and great indignation, because the Japanese themselves had declared this a safety zone for foreigners, who took refuge there from Nanking.

Fighting in Shanghai was fierce during Wednesday, the Japanese repeatedly throwing their forces against the Chinese lines with unrelenting force. They did not, however, succeed in routing the Chinese, merely gaining some territory in Chapel. The advance was not uniform, and the main body of troops is still on the outskirts of this part of the town. The Japanese also succeeded in capturing a few sections of the Shanghai-Woosung railway, but the important parts of it are still firmly in the hands of the Chinese.

GOVERNMENT ACTION URGED

London, Sept. 29.
A joint meeting of the Federation of British Industries and the China Association passed a resolution urging the Government to take all possible steps to prevent further damage to British interests in China, to put an end to the encroachments already made, and to secure a restoration and maintenance of trading facilities and security with a view to avoiding further serious losses of British interests.

POWER BUILDING DAMAGED

Canton, Sept. 29: It is learned to-day that during the raid over Whampoa yesterday morning, the Japanese planes dropped four bombs. Two fell into the river, one at the foot of the statue of Dr. Sun Yat-sen and the last one beside the power plant. The building was only slightly damaged, but the machinery was intact. One coolie was injured.

DOIHARA'S ARRIVAL IN TSINAN DENIED

Nanking, Sept. 29: The foreign report circulated a few days ago to the effect that Major-General Doihara, the "Lawrence of Manchuria" and master mind of the Japanese Army, had arrived in Tsinan to persuade General Han Fu-chu, governor of Shanlung, to join the independent state of five provinces in North China, is denied by responsible Chinese quarters to-day.

Reliable sources revealed, however, that a plane did fly over Tsinan on Sept. 28 and dropped a mailbag containing a number of letters, the contents of which have not been divulged.

JAPANESE COLUMN NEARLY WIPED OUT

Tsinan, Sept. 30: A Japanese column, which succeeded to penetrate the Chinese lines south of Tsangchow on the Tientsin-Pukow Railway and reached the Pofon Station yesterday, was nearly wiped out by Chinese forces. It was disclosed to-day.

The Chinese immediately surrounded the Japanese and moved them down, with machine guns only a handful of soldiers to escape.

The main Chinese defence line on the railway is about three miles north of Pofoucheu, where they are stubbornly battling Japanese forces with the hope of recapturing Tsangchow.

GENEVA AND THE FAR EASTERN CRISIS

Great Britain States Her Stand

Geneva, Sept. 29.

The assurance that the British Government was ready to participate with the other Powers concerned, at a conference to arrange a settlement of the Far Eastern conflict, was made by Lord Cranborne at the meeting of the Committee of Twenty-three to-day. Lord Cranborne dealt at length with the policy of the British Government which, he said, was based, in the Far East as elsewhere, on the necessity of maintaining peace.

This was a policy calling for the fullest international co-operation and also a policy which is in complete harmony with the principles of the League Covenant and demanding the establishment of a friendly understanding between China and Japan.

The British Government recognised that the relations between China and Japan was normally a matter for the two countries to settle themselves, but in the unhappy event of the conflict which has arisen, it was quite apart from any question of League obligations, and it was obviously impossible for the British Government to accept the view that this was a matter only affecting the parties to the conflict, and that third parties must stand completely aside. This was a matter affecting to greater or less degrees many powers with interests in the Far East, whether they are members of the League or not.

Lord Cranborne recalled the efforts made by the British Government to bring about a settlement of the dispute and said that there had been close and constant communication between the British Government and other Powers interested in the Far East, whether League members or not, and in the many efforts made the co-operation of the Powers was more or less secured.

ACCEPT CODES DISREGARDED

There seemed to be no valid reason why the dispute should not have been localised and satisfactory settlement found, either through direct Sino-Japanese negotiations or efforts of third Powers. All efforts to secure a cessation of the conflict have, unhappily, failed. The incident of July 7 was, in itself, insignificant, and the action taken by Japan has been out of all proportion to it. The conflict continued to be waged with ever increasing ferocity and lack of regard to the accepted standards of humanity.

DEFINITE LINES OF ACTION

Lord Cranborne said that it would obviously do no good, but indeed it would do no harm, if the Committee gave the impression that it contemplated a certain line of action which it was not able to carry out.

"We must cut our cloth according to our measure," he said, "but there are definite lines on which progress can be made. Efforts to bring about a cessation of hostilities must not be relaxed. The door must not be closed to any future action that may be possible."

Lord Cranborne describes the suggestion regarding a conference between the Powers most vitally concerned as a proposal of the greatest value which should be constantly kept in mind. The British Government were certainly ready to concur with it if all the other interested Powers agreed.

Lord Cranborne supported the French proposal for the appointment of a sub-committee, and it was suggested to have the same terms of reference as the Committee of Twenty-three trusted to this body to take account of the reality of the situation and play its part in bringing about a settlement of the dispute.

INDIA CONDEMNS JAPAN

Bombay, Sept. 29.

The Congress Party's strong condemnation of the "ruthless slaughter of thousands of human beings" by the Japanese was voiced by Pandit Nehru in an interview with Reuter. He declared that India was unable to remain a silent spectator of this tragedy and the country sends its full sympathy to the Chinese people. Meetings throughout India, urging a boycott of Japanese goods reflect the prevailing sentiment, and the Nationalist press give great prominence to the boycott resolution by the South Wales Miners' Federation.

Bulabhai Desai and Saty Amurthi, leader, and deputy leader of the Congress Party and Central Legislature, respectively, interviewed by Reuter at Simla, while declaring that Japan was a menace to world peace, opined that if Britain does not wish to become an abettor, if not the victim of Fascist powers, it was time she made more vigorous efforts to prevent Japanese aggression in China.

CHINESE NATIONAL UNITY CAMPAIGN

London, Sept. 29.

The Chinese National Unity Campaign was explained by General Yang Hu-cheng who arrived in London from France when speaking at the press reception under the auspices of the China Campaign Committee. He said his mission itself was the symbol of Chinese national unity and declared that the Chinese were willing to risk all their possessions and shed the last drop of blood. Time was on the side of China which could afford to lose many battles provided they won one decisive victory in the end. In return for her sacrifices, China asked all peace-loving people to bring pressure on the aggressor, not only politically but also by severing all relations, economic political and social.

HAN FU-CHU IS LOYAL

Groundless Japanese Rumours

Tsingtao, Sept. 30.

An unequivocal pledge to resist Japanese aggression and to submit absolutely to the direction of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek was given by General Han Fu-chu in an important statement refuting the rumours that he may save Shantung from invasion by falling in with Japanese plans to create an "autonomous federation" or the provinces of Hopei, Shantung, Shansi, Suiyuan and Chahar.

General Han Fu-chu says this rumour is entirely false and without foundation and could not be believed by any sensible person because the country's resistance to Japanese aggression "is a struggle for our existence and the only way out for China."

"I will implicitly obey the orders of the Central Government and submit absolutely to the direction of the Generalissimo. The enemy at this critical time are using old tricks in order to cause dissension and create suspicion and by such rumours are confusing the minds of the people. All this I deeply regret and sincerely abominate."

General Han Fu-chu appealed to his fellow countrymen and foreign friends of China not to believe "such false and groundless rumours."

JAPAN WILL COLLAPSE!

Nanking, Sept. 30: A foreign resident who has just returned here from Tokyo expressed the opinion that if China could hold out six months longer in the present hostilities the Japanese military adventure would collapse.

He revealed that the Japanese Government's finance is in a very precarious position and if the war is prolonged for another half year Japan will be bankrupt which will spell the end to the militarists' programme in China.

Japan at present owes German merchants some Yen 5,000,000 which is already due but the country is unable to make payments immediately.

This foreigner also stated that unrest among the junior officers in the Japanese Army is continuing to grow as it is rumoured that this group is opposed to the present military plan.

ROYAL NAVY

The new cruiser Sheffield, Captain W P Mark Wardlaw, D.S.O., which was handed over to the Navy last month at the Vickers-Armstrong works at Walker-on-Tyne, has left Chatham for Portsmouth. In the course of her first cruise she is to visit Immingham, Grimsby, from October 13 to 19. This is the nearest convenient port to which the people of Sheffield may come to see their city's first name-ship.

While at Immingham the Sheffield is to receive a presentation of plate to commemorate the association. She will afterwards go to Rosyth from October 20 to 25 to join the 2nd Cruiser Squadron of the Home Fleet. On October 29 she is due at Portland, and on December 7, after a further cruise, at Chatham for Christmas leave.

MEDICAL OFFICERS

As soon as possible after January 1, 1938, states a Fleet Order issued yesterday, short-service surgeon lieutenants of 1934 seniority, and also those of 1933 seniority who were permitted to defer their applications, are to report through the usual channels whether or not they wish to be considered for transfer to the permanent list. About March next applications for transfer will be considered together, and the selections will promulgated in due course. Should any officer wish to defer his decision the fact is to be reported.

Since May 1, 1934, all entries of officers in the medical branch have been on a short-service basis in the first instance for three years.

LAUNCH OF THE MOHAWK

The launch of the destroyer Mohawk at the Southampton shipyard of Thornycroft and Co. Limited, has been fixed for October 5. The following revised allocation of manning posts for the 1st and 2nd Tribal Destroyer Flotillas has been approved:—

1st Flotilla.—Mohawk, Nubian, Afridi, and Cossack—Portsmouth; Gurkha, Macri, and Zulu—Devonport; Sikh—Chatham.

2nd Flotilla.—Somali—Portsmouth; Matabele, Punjabi, and Tartar—Devonport; Eskimo, Mashona, Ashanti, and Bedouin—Chatham.

COMMAND OF THE NARWHAL

Lieutenant-Commander H. R. Conway is appointed to command the minelay submarine Narwhal in the 2nd Flotilla, Home Fleet, in succession to Lieutenant-Commander J. R. S. Brown, who joined her two years ago while still building at Barrow-in-Furness. Lieutenant-Commander Conway specialized in submarines in 1924 as a sub-lieutenant, and his previous commands have included H 30 at Portsmouth and the Regent in China. He joined the Navy with a special entry cadetship from Wellington College in April, 1919.

CHANGE IN UNIFORM

The collar of the round jacket for midshipmen, midshipmen (E), cadets, and paymaster cadets, states a new Fleet Order, is no longer to be fitted with a hook and eye. The amended description of the jacket is: "Blue cloth, single-breasted, with seven buttons; three notched holes of black twist on each cuff with buttons to correspond; a stand collar, with the white turnback and notched hole or the white notched hole as described in Nos. 6 and 7." These numbers refer to the regulations for the undress coat and white tunic respectively. The round jacket is worn by midshipmen and cadets on occasions for which the full dress coat, frock coat, or mess jacket is prescribed for officers.

ROYAL AIR FORCE

NEW SQUADRON LEADERS

Squadron Leader Collin McK. Grierson, promoted in the recent list, is among the officers who gained cadetships at Cranwell by meritorious service in the ranks. Squadron Leader P. W. M. Wright, also promoted, entered with a short-service commission in February, 1927, and served in Egypt and Iraq.

WORKS ORGANIZATION

The existing Works Area No. 6 at Castle Bromwich will be closed on September 30. Stations at present under this area will be administered after October 1 by Nos. 2 and 3 Areas, and new sections will be formed, with section headquarters at Castle Bromwich, Feltwell (temporarily), and Grant-ham. In addition, Mildenhall, now in Works Area No. 5, Abingdon, will on October 1 be transferred to the administration of No. 2 Area and placed within one of the new sections.

UNRIVALED OPPORTUNITIES

"Seeing how important this question is to you, why don't you do it? Why have you not done it all this time?" asked Major Reed with some surprise.

There are, Major Reed avers, unrivalled opportunities for dairying, for the growing of rice and all kinds of vegetables, citrus and other fruits, cattle and poultry breeding and every other type of agriculture in this small Colony.

"You cannot get a better farmer than the Chinese," said Mayor Reed. "In the Pacific coast, in Central America and other parts where I have pioneered, and my father before me, we have always used Chinese labour. They are the best in the world, but they must be properly directed. If it had not been for the Chinese we would never have made the progress in agriculture and horticulture in the Pacific coast as we have done."

BACKBONE OF THE SYSTEM

"The Chinese here are really the backbone of your agricultural system and they must be taken care of. They must be instructed in such things as effective insect pest control. It is, of course, no use to expect them to buy expensive chemicals for this purpose, because they cannot afford it, but that is really unnecessary when we know all about effective insecticidal plants which they can grow without cost."

"Then again, your soils here are what are known as acid soils and they need lime, nitrates, phosphates, potash and so forth. But your peasant farmer cannot afford to buy those. He can, however, be taught how he can produce his own nitrates. In this respect our demonstrations are, of course, the best."

"If you establish the need for a distribution station and make it also a demonstration farm showing what it is possible to do with right direction in handling your crop, you can bring about a great improvement in the supply of green foodstuffs with a considerable saving of time and expenditure."

"Whether in preparation for an emergency or otherwise," said Mayor Reed, "all that fine land needs developing. I do not see why Europeans wishing to retire from office toll should not take up farming in this very Colony with the great opportunity such an occupation affords."

"There is, of course, another, and by no means unimportant aspect to the question. When you have all this fine land why should you pay vast sums of money every year to other people for your food-stuffs?"

THOROUGH KNOWLEDGE

These are the views of a man who has risen to the very front rank as an agricultural pioneer in the world's greatest agricultural country and as such they deserve the fullest consideration.

Major Reed has been an agriculturist for 34 years and has thoroughly studied world agricultural economics. In this line, in view of the fact that he has, perhaps, in his time done more pioneering work in all parts of the world than any living man to-day, he is looked upon by his own countrymen as one of the leading authorities. He has been a practical planter for many years and he is possessed of wide technical knowledge.

Take a look at his record: Originator of the American Imperial Irrigation scheme (805,000 acres) Cost $5,500,000.

Consulting Economics Engineer to the Governments of Latin America and the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Winner of international awards. $1,000 National Cotton Growing Championship Trophy of U.S.A. and Grand Gold Medal for banana production, World's Fair, St. Louis. Grand Gold Medal for sugar cane production World's Fair, St. Louis.

President Imperial Cotton Association; Chairman and Originator Imperial Irrigation District; Managing Director Seed Breeding Station, National Cotton Association of U.S.A.

Director and sole sponsor of the Reed Asiatic Museum.

There are a host of others, too numerous to mention, but the above is sufficient to show the eminence of the man in the agricultural world in the U.S.A.

OFFERED BIG UNDERTAKING

Major Reed told me that just before coming to Hong Kong, he had been offered a post under the Central Government of China under which he was to rehabilitate the Central agricultural system in China, but the Sino-Japanese hostilities knocked that scheme on the head. He is now in his way to Europe with personal introductions from the Secretary of Agriculture in the U.S.A. to the leaders of European countries.

But Major Reed's heart is in Asia. "I am a pioneer," he says. "I have always been a pioneer, and my father before me. And the greatest pioneering work to-day can be done in Asia."

This remark set me thinking. Why should not the authorities here elicit the opportunity while Major Reed is still in the Colony and ask him to take up the pioneering work on the lines he has set out above?

Here is indeed an organizer and administrator of genius. Under his direction surely the New Territories, bleak and almost barren of appearance as they now look, could probably be transformed into a tract of land flowing with milk and honey!

HONG KONG, OCTOBER 1, 1937.

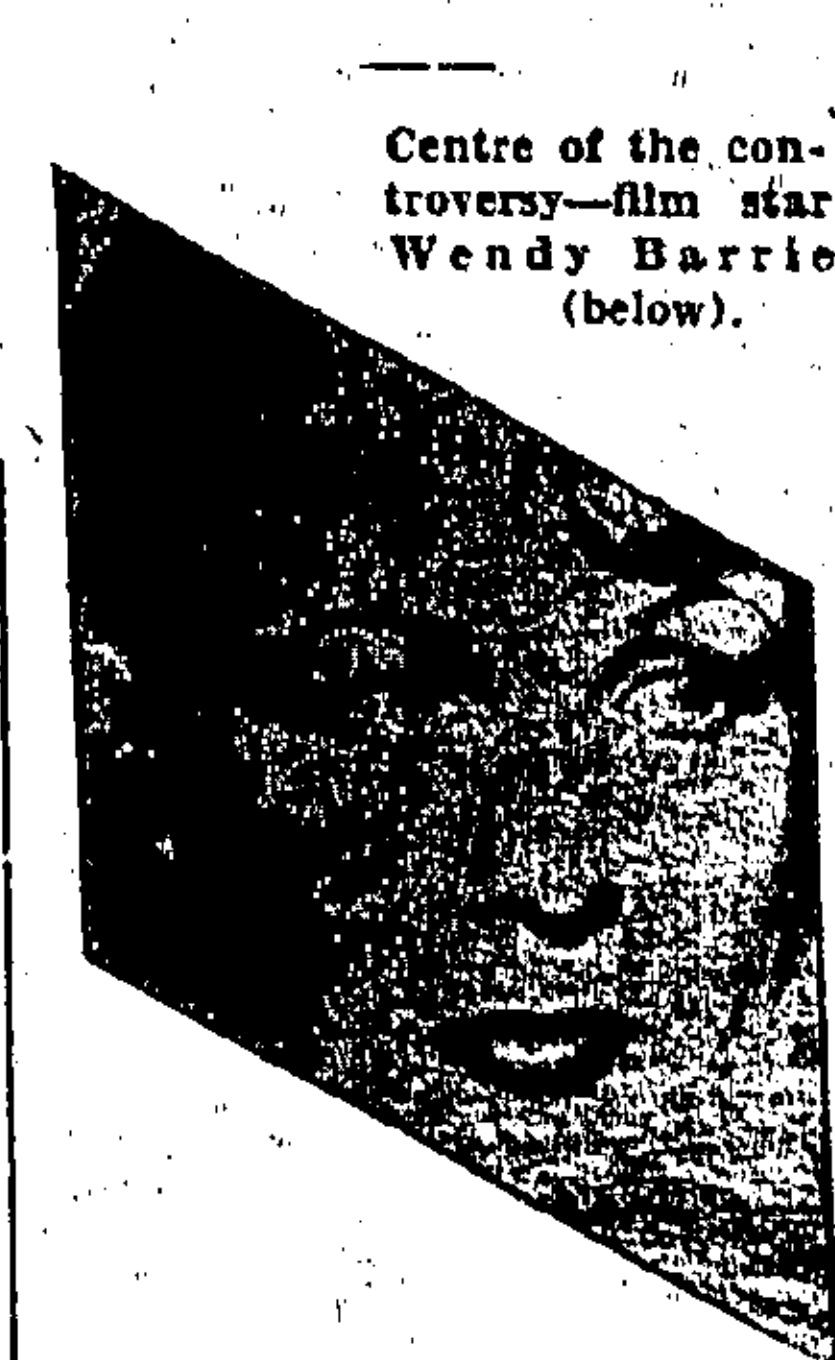

JAPAN EXPECTS

Latest newspapers and periodicals from Japan give great prominence to the speech by the Prime Minister, Prince Konoye, on the occasion of the opening of the extraordinary session of the Diet at which a special supply was voted for the immediate needs of the present war of unprovoked aggression, and at which no less than eleven bills placing finance, industry and economics on a war-time basis were approved practically without a murmur of opposition.

It is with the high-sounding and blatantly misleading pronouncement from the lips of Japan's Prime Minister that we are mainly concerned at this juncture, because to us it constitutes as glaring an example of cheap publicity as is possibly conceivable.

Here are the words which fell from the lips of Prince Konoye

Wendy Barrie Storms:
"I'm Not Wed!"

Centre of the controversy—film star
Wendy Barrie
(below).

Wendy Barrie, the twenty-four-year-old British film actress who made her name in "The Private Lives of Henry VIII." opened a newspaper in Hollywood recently, to read that she was honeymoon-ing hundreds of miles away at Joliet, Illinois, after a New York wedding to Bill Lawrence, an actor of nineteen, writes a New York correspondent.

"This wedding story is an absolute outrage," Wendy stormed over the phone when I rang her up.

"Who is this Bill Lawrence? I've never heard of him in my life. I haven't married anyone."

Then I telephoned the Joliet home to ask Bill's mother, Mrs. H.
A. Skeas, if it were true that Bill had married film actress Wendy Barrie.
"Indeed, it is," replied Mrs. Skeas.
her voice ringing with pride. "Bill vanished from home a fortnight ago. The other day he returned saying he and Wendy had married secretly in New York. Two days later Wendy, who had been held in New York by business, joined him here. The happy things have gone out for the day."

SHIP'S MASTER FINED

Captain G. Charlie, of the s.s.
Canton, appeared before Mr. K. M.
A. Barnett yesterday at the Kowloon Magistracy summoned without notifying the authorities that the vessel would be delayed. The defendant admitted the charge saying that the cargo delayed the sailing. A fine of $50 was imposed.

at the very start of his oration,
"Japan has always desired permanent peace and order in the Far East."

It is very difficult to understand the mentality of a nation which can swallow that sort of stuff, but apparently it has a very definite appeal in Japan.
A surface appeal, at any rate.
But as the statement by Japan's Prime Minister grows so does its twist away from the straight path of truth increase. Thus, "China has not only refused the friendly hand extended by Japan, but also resorted to an anti-Japanese policy." That, of course, is a terrible and just shows how essential it is to "chastise" the "outrageous" Chinese. However, Prince Konoye mounts to great heights of mendacity when he enters upon that phase of the undeclared war which concerns the soldiers and what they are fighting for. For instance, this is a typical phrase, "The Japanese soldiers called to the fronts in China are fighting for the sake of justice."

Presumably the slaughtering of thousands of innocent and defenceless non-combatants has to be justified somehow or other, and if the Prime Minister of a once-great Power is willing to debase himself in this manner by stooping to the most palpable prevarication then the cause must indeed be both great and bad.

In conclusion we will quote what we deem is the gist of the entire Japanese sentiment when Prince Konoye declared, "The nation is sincerely urged to act in perfect obedience to the Imperial wishes."

If that is not sheer slavery of body and mind, then, we ask, what is?

PHILIPPINE REVIEW

Lands And More Lands

Members of the MacMurray survey commission are reported as highly impressed with the hardly-scratched possibilities of Mindanao.
If they will take the trouble to consider these possibilities against the background of agrarian unrest which is sufficiently serious to force the government to adopt a far reaching programme of purchasing of large estates for resale to tenants, they will start to get at the root causes of one of the most serious of the economic problems of the Philippines. When the government has thousands upon thousands of hectares of fertile lands awaiting distribution and development, why is it necessary to buy more thousands of acres to sell to tenants to keep them safely satisfied? What is wrong with the economic pioneering programme? Why do not the tenants who are dissatisfied on the large estates of Luzon go to Mindanao where lands of amazing fertility await development? What's wrong with the system of distributing the thousands of acres already owned by the government without the necessity of spending millions for the purchase of more thousands of acres?

The answers to these questions should have an important place in any thorough survey of Philippine economics.

These questions are not raised here to suggest that the land purchasing plan is wrong under prevailing circumstances. If the unrest is anything like as serious as officially reported, something has to be done. Large estates operated on the tenant plan constitute a source of danger to any country. There is reason for the government to act.

But also there is reason for the government to do some serious thinking and effective acting in connection with the tardiness of development of Mindanao. It is time that the foregoing questions be taken seriously.

Filipino Prospects

A gloomy picture of conditions to follow in the Philippines if the present preferential trade relations between the islands and the United States are ended, is drawn by the Foreign Trade Association.
Twenty-five years of free trade between the United States and the Philippines have built up special conditions that must collapse when the preferential tariff relations end. The United States now has the Philippines market. It would lose this to some rival, unnamed by the Association but doubtless Japan.

On the other hand, because of the open market in the United States for their agricultural products, the Filipinos have attained a standard of living higher than any other peoples of the Orient. With this free market lost and faced by tariff walls everywhere in the world, the Filipinos will sink back to their state of forty years ago.
In the Association view, which is probably right, then there will be no business for anyone in the Philippines.

What happens in the Philippines has a special interest to San Francisco, which has reaped large benefits from trade with the islands since the American occupation.

CHINESE GIRL'S NAIVE LETTER FROM WAR ZONE

"Wing Loo, 14 Mah Pung, Pok Sye road, Tungshan, Canton," is the fascinating address on a letter which Miss Maisie Louey Gung, a former student of Zercho's College, Melbourne, wrote recently to Mr. Zercho, enclosing a photograph of herself taken in the garden of her home, writes a Melbourne correspondent.

Miss Gung is stenographer to the Adviser to Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek, and there is a delightful naivete in her reference to her work.
"I have held this important post for several months now," she says, "and find the work very interesting, quite different from the usual office routine work, which is liable to get a little boring at times." It is getting more interesting these days, with war raging between China and Japan, and really it is exciting. Of course I have been warned to keep a closed mouth, which I am doing. The latest news is that China is winning and the Japanese are retreating, which makes me leap for joy. Naturally, you can't blame me for being patriotic and feeling that way, can you?"

Miss Gung's office is in Nanking, in a building in the National Park.
"A very nice environment," she says, "surrounded by lots of flowers, giving one a sense of elation."
Before she was appointed to her present post, Miss Gung, who returned to China in 1931 after having completed her secretarial training in Melbourne, was secretary to the Rotary Club in China.
This work she considers broadened her outlook on life.

Miss Nora Kew, tap artist, who is also appearing in the cabaret at the Hong Kong Hotel to-night, sponsored by the Hong Kong Chinese Women's Relief Association. (Photofem Studio).

Referring to the international nature of Rotary, she writes, "Isn't it funny that one can have associates all over the world? As Confucius said, 'Under the Heavens we are one family, and within the Four Seas we are brethren,' and how I agree with him in that respect."

Miss Gung has a sister, who is studying at the High School in Canton, where she expects to graduate next year. "The High schools here have English taught," her sister writes, "just like the schools over there with you having French and German. Her English is quite good, and after graduation she intends to go to your college to take a business course to finish up. She resembles me to a certain extent, but is slightly taller, and, of course, much better looking!"

It appears that it is not at all unusual for Chinese girls to come to Australia to train for a business career later in their own land.
There is no ban on their admittance to Australia if they come here to school.

CLOTHING THEFTS

Ho Lam, 30, unemployed, was brought before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday charged with larceny of a basket containing a jade bangle and 14 pieces of clothing, the property of Ho Sang, at 12 Temple Street. Two months' hard labour was imposed.

L' Shing, 28, unemployed, appeared before Mr. E. Himsforth on a charge of the larceny of three pairs of trousers and a jacket from 20, Tung On Street.
His Worship sentenced him to one month's hard labour with the option of a fine of $10.

STOLEN MILK BOTTLES

Ho Keung, 38, formerly a cook at the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank Mess was charged with stealing nine milk bottles before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett yesterday.
The bottles were the property of the Dairy Farm, Ice and Cold Storage Company.

His Worship sentenced him to one month's hard labour.

QUARANTINE RESTRICTIONS

Quarantine restrictions have been imposed by the Government of Beira, Portuguese East Africa, against arrivals from Hong Kong on account of cholera.

NO INTERPORT CRICKET THIS SEASON

SHANGHAI UNABLE TO SEND TEAM OWING TO PRESENT TROUBLE

Owing to conditions prevailing in Shanghai, the Cricket Interport between Hong Kong and the Northern port scheduled for the beginning of November, will not take place this year.

It is announced that a telegram has been received by the Hong Kong Cricket Club from Shanghai regretting their inability to send a cricket team to Hong Kong this autumn.

NEWS ABOUT T. A. PEARCE

Playing for Kent against Gloucestershire in a recent County cricket match, T. A. Pearce, the Hong Kong Interporter, scored 59 and participated in a seventh wicket partnership that put on 100 runs.

BOY SCOUTS SPORTS

The Boy Scouts Association, Hong Kong Branch, are holding their annual swimming sports on Saturday, October 2, at 2.30 p.m. in the Naval Yard Swimming Bath, by kind permission of Commodore E.B.C. Dicken, O.B.E., D.S.C.

Members of the public who are interested are cordially invited, but it is desired to point out that no smoking can be permitted, in accordance with the strict Admiralty regulation observed in all Dockyards. Furthermore, no cameras will be permitted. Entrance should be made not earlier than 2.00 p.m. by the Prince of Wales Gate, Murray Road.

Mrs. N.L. Smith has very kindly consented to distribute the Challenge Cups and Certificates to the successful competitors at the conclusion of the Sports.

UNIVERSITY SWIMMING SPORTS

FINALS TO-MORROW

Heats in connection with the annual swimming sports of the Hong Kong University were decided in the European Y.M.C.A. pool yesterday afternoon. The finals will be swum off to-morrow at 2 p.m.

The finalists for the various events are as follows:—

THE PENDULUM HAS SWUNG BACK

An Older Generation At The Crease

BY C. L. R.

I happened to be playing in a village match recently against a scratch team. Their captain told me that he had on his side a man who used to play for Middlesex 40 years ago.

"He was certain that I didn't know him or hadn't heard of him, one of the brothers Douglas, J. and R. N."

Of course I had heard of them. They used to come into the Middlesex team in August with another good player, C. M. Wells, J. Douglas. I learnt, was 64, but loved the game and still played well enough. Naturally I was anxious to see him, and saw enough of him to see many things.

He is small and rather wizened, but he has a youthful figure—no trace of embonpoint—and he came to the wicket as jauntily as schoolboy. His stance was perfect, legs slightly apart, left shoulder facing the bowler, no crouch, ease and alertness, not the slightest hint of mannerism.

Still, 64 is 64. Well, about the second or third ball he got was a half-volley from a medium-paced bowler.

True and straight, he lifted it over the bowler's head—for that comparatively rare stroke to-day, the full-blooded straight drive. He had another ball, a short one, and made a peculiar stroke.

He just stood where he was without moving his feet at all and lashed across the ball, hitting it from just over or outside the off stump to between the bowler and mid-on.

I thought at first that he didn't move because it was easier for him to hit from a stationary position. But I was mistaken. It was a clean stroke. For in the next over the ball was similar. He jumped round to hook to leg and was bowled because the ball kept low.

I was genuinely sorry to see him go. I wanted to see him make 20 at least. He couldn't hit the ball very hard, but he was batting as he had always battled—that was clear—and I could see another generation at work.

Length And Flight

When he bowled he was even more revealing. He is a left-hander. I didn't play him. My span of life, alas, did not allow of much sampling of the other side's bowling. But from the ring two things were perfectly obvious. He kept a length just outside the off-stump, and he gave the ball an enormous amount of room in the air.

I doubt if he spun the ball at all. I am pretty sure he didn't. But he kept this length automatically, and the high flight was obviously something which he had been accustomed to doing from the time he achieved the age of discretion.

It would be fatally easy to generalise too much from a single example. But he was so obviously all I expected him to be that I thought him worthy of special mention. The lifted straight drive so early in his innings is the most significant thing; the room in the air for the slow ball is the second.

The Modern Age

The drive is increasingly with us again. I think that on the whole the young players of to-day, county and public school, are far nearer the 'nineties, when the Douglasses played, than they are to the generation of ten years ago and a little earlier.

LIUTENANT-GOVERNOR SWIMS FIVE MILES

Sir Harry Luke, the Lieutenant-Governor of Malta, recently accomplished a fine swimming feat. Entering the sea from the neighbouring island of Gozo, he covered the five miles to Malta in 4 hours 48 minutes and at the finish showed no sign of fatigue.

Sir Harry Luke was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Malta in 1930, after holding many high offices in the Mediterranean and the Near East. His favourite recreations are swimming and squash rackets. He is 53 years of age.

The young batsman who faces mid-off with his chest—the two-eyed stance—is very rare to-day. The concentration on leg-side play, glancing and forcing strokes between mid-on and short-leg of a few years ago, is dropping out of fashion. And nearly all the younger generation are notable for powerful driving.

When Russell made a century against the Australians in 1921 it was calculated that some 80 of his runs came from balls placed between mid-on short-leg. That sort of thing, I think, is not likely to occur again for years. And one of the most notable things about Hammond is that he has always been a batsman of the old school; full-blooded off-driving, and a

6215 MORE BABIES: BOYS OUTNUMBER THE GIRLS

Six thousand two hundred and fifteen more babies were born in the second quarter of this year than in the corresponding quarter of 1936, states an official return for England and Wales.

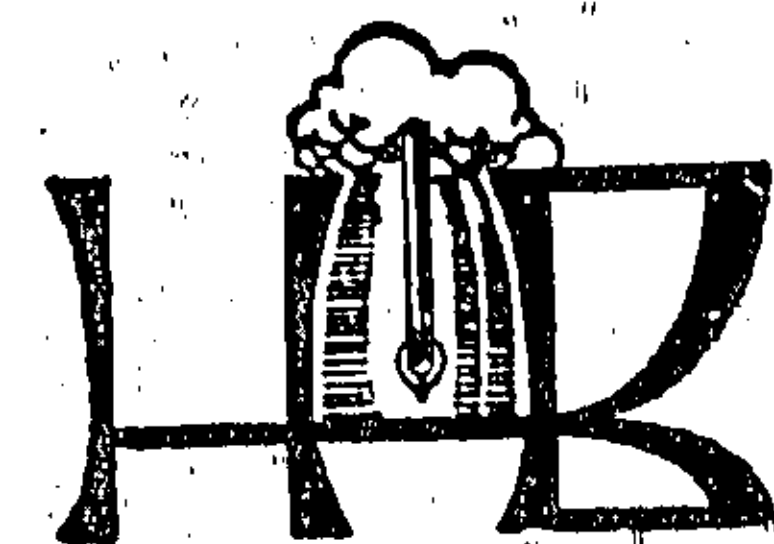

The total was 193,867. The birth-rate was 16.1 per 1000 of the estimated mid-year population. Eighty-four thousand and twenty-three of the babies were boys; 79,844 were girls.

Deaths registered during the second quarter this year numbered 118,524. That figure was 45,176 lower than in the preceding quarter, and 1016 lower than in the corresponding quarter of 1936. They comprised 60,802 males and 57,822 females.

Total deaths corresponded to an annual rate of 11.6 per 1000 of the population, or 2 below that recorded for the similar period of 1936.

The number of persons married in the second quarter of 1937 in England and Wales was 159,560, an increase of 18,680 on the number in the preceding quarter, but 40,948 fewer than in the corresponding quarter of 1936.

SIR ABE BAILEY

Appeals For Help
For China

The famous South African financier, Sir Abe Bailey, has written a letter to the "Times" recalling the National fund which the Lord Mayor of London opened to relieve the sufferers of the 1924 Tokio earthquake and the hundreds of thousands of pounds sent to Japan from Great Britain as a result.

Pointing out the present urgent need of medical equipment in Chinese cities, where "thousands of Chinese civilians are being torn to pieces by Japanese bombs and shells," Sir Abe (whose legs were recently amputated) says: "The news comes with terrible poignancy to an invalid who received every attention. Isn't this an occasion when the British commonwealth should come to the aid of sufferers in China at least to the same extent as she came to the aid of the Japanese in 1924 and under the same traditional leadership?"

Suggesting that the aid in this case should be rushed to Chinese ports in the form of anaesthetics and medical stores, first by air and then by a fully equipped Red Cross British ship loaded with medical equipment and surgeons, Sir Abe offers to contribute £1,000 to start such a fund.—

MORE JAPANESE
TREACHERY

London, Sept. 29. His Majesty's Government have received a memorandum from the Chinese Ministry for Foreign Affairs informing them that on September 26, two Japanese monoplane were observed flying at a low altitude over Kwangteh, Anhwei, with the Chinese national emblem distinctly painted on their wings. Two bombs were dropped by these monoplane before they left.

The Memorandum declares in an armed conflict the use of national emblems of an opponent is always considered a treacherous and unlawful act, and it is especially dangerous in the present case since Japan would evidently shift her responsibility to China for any action taken under such camouflage, resulting in the loss of foreign lives or in damage to foreign property. The Chinese Government takes this opportunity of making a positive affirmation that Chinese forces have never used and do not intend to use the Japanese national flag or emblem as a ruse of war in the present hostilities.—

ASSEMBLY CONDEMNS
BOMBING

London, Sept. 29. The full League Assembly today approved the resolution passed yesterday by the Far Eastern Advisory Committee condemning the bombardment of open towns by aircraft in China.—

FURTHER BRITISH PROTEST

London, Sept. 29. Sir Robert Craigie, British Ambassador in Tokio, called at the Japanese Foreign Office yesterday and left a Memorandum on the subject of the bombing of non-military objectives in China. He referred to the earlier representations on the subject and in the course of a conversation with the Vice-Minister, called attention to the fact that bombs had fallen on the Central Hospital in Nanking.—

MUSSOLINI LEAVES
BERLIN

Berlin, Sept. 29. Signor Benito Mussolini left Berlin to-day at 3.50 p.m. Herr Adolf Hitler, members of the German Cabinet and high officials, as well as a large crowd, gathered at the station to bid farewell to Il Duce. Herr Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy, accompanied Il Duce as far as the frontier. The two dictators had previously had another hour's exchange of political views after viewing a big military parade.—

THE REFORM OF CURRENCY

Plea For Decimal System

TIE BETWEEN BRITAIN AND U.S.A.

It was quite to be expected that in a period when so many conventions are being questioned attention is being directed to our British currency.

We were all taught in school that four farthings make a penny, 12 pence a shilling, and 20 shillings a pound, and somehow we grew up to think that this was like the law of the Medes and Persians—beyond alteration—and the maintenance of the sterling pound of to-day is the foundation of the structure of British financial pre-eminence, writes a correspondent in the "Glasgow Herald."

This belief was rudely shocked seven years ago when we found that a Bank of England five pound note, which had been hitherto as good as five gold sovereigns in any part of the world, had fallen in value in the estimation of our foreign creditors by about 40 per cent, and as they had the right to take payment in gold we went off gold, and in so doing paid our foreign creditors 80 per cent of what we owed them.

We, being on balance a creditor nation, lost much more than we gained by going off gold. But that was the cost at which we got round an immediate emergency. This familiar story is told only to show how the paper pound, like the paper franc, the paper mark, is no foundation on which to build so far as international transactions are concerned.

"ANTIQUATED" SYSTEM

Having thus cleared the ground we can now look at the British currency system, and here one has to admit that it is one of the most antiquated currencies in the world.

The American Colonies, when they set up house for themselves, did not take long to cut themselves clear of it. They established their currency on the simple decimal basis from which they have never departed, and the greatest of the British Dominions, Canada, has in this followed the example.

It is needless to go into details to show the advantages of decimalisation. Everybody will admit them. The only question is on what basis a new currency for the United Kingdom should rest.

The advocates for the pound, as it is say we should begin with its present gold content and work downward, but those who hold that if we did so we would inevitably detach our currency from the currency of Canada, which is firmly wedded to the cent and dollar system hold that we should begin with the half-penny which is the equal of the cent, and work upward.

Canada has carried the cent and dollar system down to the West Indies, where it prevails partially in most of the British Islands. It is also the system universal in British Guiana, our one possession on the South American continent.

A PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

May I quote a personal experience here. Landing some years ago in Georgetown, B.G., I took a taxi from the wharf. It had no taximeter, but when I asked the cabman what the fare was, he said, "A dollar." Having some American money in my pocket, I offered him a silver dollar. He said, "That is no use to me; I want an English dollar," so I gave him two florins and two copper pennies, with which he was satisfied.

I am telling this story merely to show how easily our present coins could be fitted into the cent and dollar system, as they are so fitted already in this colony, which has more than half the area of England.

Building upward from the cent we would arrive at the pound. We can never get away from gold as an ultimate measure of international value, because it is the only standard universally recognised by the greatest trading nations.

When we get to the pound we find that between it and the American five-dollar piece there is a gap of tenpence. All we would require to do would be to raise the gold content of the pound by tenpence worth gold, and we would arrive at a measure of gold value common to Great Britain, the United States, and Canada.

LINK BETWEEN NATIONS

We can never now detach Canada from America in currency matters and those two communities comprise more than two-thirds of the people who inherit the English speech and the English "culture," using the term in the comprehensive German sense.

It is not in the least likely that either Australia or South Africa would stand out of such an agreement, because its advantages in all international transactions would be so plain and apparent. Nor is it to be overlooked that we would thus forge another link binding all the communities of the great English-speaking family together.

All this would involve, of course, a readjustment of all internal values to the new standard. It would mean many calculations, but there is surely no reason why we in Great Britain should hesitate to do what other peoples have done, and done successfully, long ago. This preliminary trouble over, we would resume our true financial position in the world, a position which is more or less disturbed by our obsolescent monetary system.

EXTENSION TO DOCKS

London, Sept. 29.
Extension to Bristol's Municipal Docks at Avonmouth, necessitated by increased trade and estimated to cost of £830,000, has been approved by the Bristol City Council which has already spent over £9,000,000 on the Docks. In the first five months of this year, imports, and exports through Avonmouth totalled nearly 2,000,000 tons.

LEVIATHAN TO BE BROKEN UP

The big American liner Leviathan, which is to be broken up, may come to England.

From a scrap point of view the Leviathan is valuable, as there is not a great amount of non-ferrous metal in her. She was built at Hamburg in 1914. Her gross tonnage is 59,975, her length 937.6 feet, breadth 100.3 feet, and depth 53.2 feet.

When she broke out in 1914 she was interned in New York, and was seized when the United States entered the conflict.
